Hi Kay.

See! I certainly have enjoyed being
with you this year.
It has been so much fun. I only hope your going to be in a lot more of my classes.
Love ya
Nan.
SEY

Dear Kay,

Your note and very nice. I'll see you in Geometry,
next year....

Love,

Jean

hail and farewell

Throughout the years, perhaps since time began,
The urge to learn has filled the soul of man.
A century, the greatest, is half gone
Fifty years of waiting for dawn of day —
Our day has come — and we are going away.

We shall return to you, Charlotte, it's true
But on the day we end our senior year,
Walk through that door into a strange new life
You will belong to still another group
To share their joy and fear of age-old strife.

There remains only one of you, Charlotte,
To mind both names and faces in each class.
You will forget us as we try for our Varied fame before many days shall pass.

The memories of which we speak differ
In hearts of both the bold and meek, the gay,
The sad, and those who think the world is mad.

But we all, whenever we think of you,
Will doubly try to make our dreams come true.

You've seen us through the trying years of youth,
Have tried to teach us what is wrong and truth,
For you have nursed our adolescent fears,
Begun to mold experience of years
Into decent careers of fruitful life.

We know that our learning has just begun,
But your part is finished, for we must go.
Wait, though, allow us just a few words more,
Before you push us through that opened door.

As the sand grains seep through the hourglass,
And time passes endlessly by,
We, the 1950 class, from our hearts
Without further ado, hereby present
The Witan, Charlotte, our tribute to you.

dedication

---

to our friend and adviser, mr. lee

We dedicate this book, you see,
To the one and only Mr. Lee Whose patience, skill and right good will Have helped the staff, its job to fill.
And for the dances, tending door,
He does his share, oh, even more.
And pausing now and then for fun —
Within our hearts he's number one.

John W. Lee

Mr. Lee was graduated from Dansville High School, then went on to Buffalo Normal School. He took extension courses at Mechanics Institute, University of Rochester, Eastman School of Music, and Syracuse University. He served his printer's apprenticeship on the Dansville Express, in Dansville, New York.

In 1917 Mr. Lee joined the teaching staff at Charlotte. He was the only shop teacher, teaching printing and drafting. To add to his school duties, he conducted the school orchestra and until 1920 printed the school paper and the Annual. From the time Mr. Lee came here, he has enthusiastically, tirelessly, and unselfishly worked for the good of the students and the school.

in memoriam

Richard Newman

RICHARD NEWMAN

FEBRUARY 3, 1932 - NOVEMBER 27, 1948

We of the senior class pause in the excitement of our graduation, to pay tribute to the memory of our classmate, whose gregariousness and willingness to do his share will be an influence through our lives.

Dick was graduated from our group by God, one and one-half years ago. Though he will not take his last step with our class, we have never really lost him.

JAMES MARION

NOVEMBER 16, 1935 - NOVEMBER 7, 1949

The death of James Marion, a member of the class of 1953, shocked and saddened the student body and teachers of Charlotte High School.

His friendly smile, and his quiet way, will always remain in the memory of the people who knew Jim best.

James Marion

through the years

through the years

September of 1944 is an outstanding month in the memory of most of us. Why? In that month we, the class of 1950, entered Charlotte High School. Yes, the long awaited day had arrived when we were to step up from grammar school "big shots" to inexperienced high schoolers. As we sat in the auditorium listening to Mr. Eddy's welcoming speech, we were awed by the immensity of the building. Our first few days we spent getting ourselves lost in the dark "dungeons" of the basement looking for the locker-rooms, climbing fabulous stairways that led nowhere, and traveling endless halls.

We were put up on the "shelf" from where we viewed the assembly programs and peppered our enemies below with spit balls and rubber erasers. We were disciplined for trying to sneak down the stairway bearing the aggravating "up only" sign. At the end of our first year we had earned for ourselves ratings from the worst to the best of seventh grade classes to enter C.H.S.

We were placed in permanent homerooms for the remainder of our days at Charlotte and instantly a feud between 110 and 108 arose. New teachers dotted the scene: Mr. Allen, Miss Deane, Mr. Halbleib and Miss Quinn, while the friendly smile of Mr. Clarence Allen of the Janitorial Staff was missing. Although the boys in the sewing classes threatened to go on strike, they managed to squeeze through the series of eight-week exploratory courses in hort, wood working, commercial, languages and home economics. John Marshall furnished us with a new vice-principal, Dr. Wishart, who immediately won the friendship of young and old. As we passed from the eighth grade and prepared to start the last four years of school, our principal and friend, George Emerson Eddy, retired after serving the Rochester Public Schools successfully for many years.

We started the freshman year under the direction of our former vice-principal, now our principal, Mr. Glenn M. Dennison. Our class was enlarged by new arrivals from Holy Cross and Seneca Schools. Dick Walton and Bob Myers were elected to the office of Junior High School President for fall and spring terms respectively, and little by little other classmates were making their debuts into the various organizations that were open to us now that we were 9th graders. Gene Kintz returned to Charlotte to tutor the basketball team, and the athletes in our class made an initial appearance in Reserve Basketball. In June we went on the first of our two class trips to Cobourg with Mrs. Dale and Mrs. Collins chaperoning us, and we came back colder than an Eskimo's nose.

Our second year of high school started off with a bang. The ever-popular Mr. Reifstack left Charlotte to go to Brighton, and he was replaced by the energetic Mr. Quenan, who was imported from Edison Tech. Our first day we were stopped dead with the task of writing the first of our annual friendly letters to Mrs. Morrison.

We found our way to room 108 where some of us were to spend the next three years struggling across the Rhine, devouring the phony tales of the Gallic Wars, and trying to find out where Cicero hid his verbs. However, Norma Curtin, Joan Sprague, Barbara Windt, Joanne Butterfield, Barbara Cooper, Joan Meyers, Evelyn Wingate, Bill Friday, Bruce Gauch, Bill Howard, Ila Tuttle, and Nathan Yost, were rewarded at the 3-year end by receiving a Cum Laude. Evy Wingate and her egotistic friends of the opposite sex started a slanderous war of words that carried on until graduation.

We were entertained in Plane Geometry by the fabulous lectures of "Archimedes" Barwald. In World History we learned from Mr. Miller that "Mummy" was a song made popular by Al Jolson. And, of course, now we attended the "thrilling" senior assemblies. On our second trip to Cobourg we sailed balloons from the rear of the boat, turned our staterooms inside out, engaged in a soaking squirt gun war and Ray Grosshans taught Margie Weller and Joyce Graham the techniques of dice handling. Everyone had a rare time.

Our Junior year was very successful in that we accomplished a great deal. We elected Pat Parshall our class president, and sold popcorn fritters and programs at the basketball games, originated Club 15, and collected a dollar for class dues from everyone, thus, we were able to start the expensive senior year with a firm financial foundation.

In November of that year we were stunned and saddened by the death of Richard Newman, one of our classmates. The quiet lad, friend of us all, will always remain with us in memory.

We witnessed one of the most heated campaigns for Student Association President in many years, as Ted Collins passed out bubble gum and Bill Howard paraded in front of school with a billy goat and a brass band.

Our school band became the best uniformed in the city when they received new cadet-style uniforms. The evening of May 27, 1949, was spent dancing to

last will and testament

We, the June 1950 Class of Charlotte High School, of the City of Rochester, in the County of Monroe and the State of New York, being of sound mind and memory, do make, publish and declare this our last WILL and TESTAMENT in the manner following, that is to say: First. We direct that all our just debts and class indebtedness be paid.

2. We bequeath our orderly conduct, outstanding intelligence, and good record as a class, to the Class of 1951.
3. To Mrs. Mitchell we bequeath a sixth period Geometry Class of athletes with early dismissals.
4. Hans (Hot Rod) Herzberger leaves the parking space for the oldest car to Ronald Jacques.
5. Walter Barwald, Ray Durbin, Charles Ellwanger, and Richard Nagel leave their slightly soiled eucher deck to Charles Nesbit, Thomas Halpin, Lynn Reynolds, and Jack Lynch.
6. The Seniors of Latin III give Mrs. Denise fifty minutes.
7. Robert Steinfeldt leaves his witty remarks to anyone who wants them.
8. George Adams leaves the spade he leans on during Horticulture Class to Robert Lawson.
9. Joyce (Miss Peeky) Graham leaves her inquisitive nature to Barbara Allen.
10. Charles Halpin leaves his "ear to ear" grin to Julie Groth.
11. To ease Miss Childs' troubles, Sue Millhofer and Maddy Weber leave a recording of "Girls, get your aprons," to be used during Home Economics classes.
12. William Spitz leaves his home permanent kit to Dan Morgan.
13. To Miss Doehler we bequeath a solid class of silent and intelligent gentlemen, all named "Bill."
14. Homeroom 306 leaves to Miss Deane the hope of having a homeroom with no tardinesses.
15. Our class president, Bill Friday, leaves his book, "How to Make Friends with, and Influence, Miss Cashman," to anyone engaged in disciplinable activities in the library.
16. Dick Walton and Doug Wight bequeath to Dr. Gell an everlasting supply of problems of American Democracy.
17. To the athletic coaches, we leave a reservation for first place for their teams, a position our class was too modest to occupy.
18. Joanne Butterfield leaves Lyle Renner.
19. The Quotation Committee leaves all the slams and dirty digs they didn't use to the WITAN Staff of 1951.

Lastly, we bequeath to the incoming seventh graders the same happy hours and cheerful associations we enjoyed with our teachers and fellow students during our years at Charlotte High School.

In Witness Whereof, we have hereunto subscribed our names at Rochester, New York, the first day of February, in the year One thousand nine hundred and fifty.

The June 1950 Class of Charlotte High School
Bruce Gauch, Testator.

We, whose names are hereto subscribed, do certify that on the first day of February 1950, the testator above named, subscribed his name to this instrument in our presence and in the presence of each of us, and at the same time, in our presence and hearing, declared the same to be our Last Will and Testament, and requested us, and each of us, to sign our names thereto as witnesses to the execution thereof, which we hereby do in the presence of the testator and of each other, on the day of the date of the said Will.

Witnesses:

William Friday, President, Class of 1950
Marjorie Weller, Secretary, Class of 1950

Co op

"Co-op" is the trade name for the finance system in Charlotte. "Co-op" finances Assemblies, Music, Senior and Junior High parties, Witan, Visual Aid Corps, the Pilot and Athletics. Without "Co-op" these activities would barely function.

This year, by being a "Co-op" member, you not only supported your school but saved almost $10. You saved this amount by being admitted to sports events and obtaining your school paper free and getting the Witan for only $1. The budget for Co-op in 1949-50 was $2,350 and the student body not only raised this amount but exceeded it by many dollars.

CONGRATULATIONS, CO-OP MEMBERS!

translake

Translake consists of two selected senior study groups, one from Northern Vocational School, Toronto, Canada, and one from Charlotte High School. They hold three joint meetings a year: One all day meeting at Niagara Falls, halfway between the two schools, one at Rochester, two three-and-a-half-day meetings, one in Rochester and one in Toronto.

At these meetings, topics of importance to the United States and Canada are chosen, studied, and debated. At these conferences, students are guests in each others homes. Doctor Gell and Doctor Wishart are the chief advisers. William Howard is the student president.

The love for athletics, not thought of the prize
Is a slogan of spirit for those who are wise.
So perform your play, win or lose the game well,
For "T-E-A-M, Team!" is a nationwide yell.

Dear Kay,
you are a very sweet girl & miss your wonderful personality at Sorority. I hope you have the best always.

through the years

the rhythm of Sonny Allan and his band at the tremendously successful Junior Prom. The teen canteens netted $400.00 to be used for the the 1949 yearbook.

At the end of the year we presented Miss Goff, who was retiring, with a beautiful lapel watch. We were all glad that we were fortunate enough to have had her for American History.

The year was closed with an all-day picnic to Webster Park.

Our final year was started off by scattering Miss Doehler's homeroom members among the other three homerooms; however, they were warmly welcomed by Mrs. Denise, Miss Childs and Miss Deane.

At our first senior class meeting Bill Friday was elected President, and plans were soon made for selling pencils, wrapping paper, and candy. On December 26 we held our Senior Ball, in our big gym, with Eddy Blanchard and his band providing the down beat.

The Witan staff, by this time, was well underway planning our yearbook. Joyce Graham was Editor-in-Chief.

An operetta, "The Mocking Bird," was presented with Joan Smith as the lead. An excellent performance it was, too.

During our stay here in Charlotte we have witnessed the completion of the world's greatest cycle of affliction, the dawn of the Atomic age, and the rise of the threatening black cloud of Communism.

As we prepare to leave the familiar halls and faces of those who have been with us, we realize that if the world is as many million years old as we think it is, our crowded little era of six years has been but an instant of yesterday, and as our view of the world broadens, we see how important a role we may play in the world of tomorrow.
